

description of task #1001

Prove the following theorem.

Theorem. If each of x and y is a positive real number, then the geometric mean of x and y is less than or equal to the arithmetic mean of x and y .

(end of document)